AGED Diagnostics is using genomic innovation to develop the most accurate blood test for liver disease to help physicians keep patients in the monitoring program, reduce the financial burden for health insurers and improve patient outcomes through early detection and intervention.

Contact us at info@ageddiagnostics.com

Problem Statement

While 1 in 3 (100 million) Americans have liver disease, many are unaware until the disease has progressed to later stages at which time the disease is no longer curable, patient outcomes are poor and healthcare spending can cost up to $1,000,000 per patient.

 $1,000,000 Healthcare spending per patient for late stage diagnosis

Economic Burden

Annually, US health insurers spend $108 Billion on management for nonalcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH, liver disease) and an additional $184 Billion as a societal burden, calculated as the monetary value to quality of life-years lost due to liver disease.

AGED Solution

AGED is developing the most accurate blood test that can differentiate benign from advanced liver disease and simultaneously stage fibrosis (liver scarring) through a targeted genomic sequencing assessment.

Competition

The sole diagnostic tool for NASH is a liver biopsy, which is expensive, invasive, prone to sampling error, and bleeding. Imaging tools fail in nearly 60% of patients. There are few effective noninvasive & accurate tests that can diagnose NASH.

 60% Of the time imaging tools fail to diagnose NASH in patients who have the disease

Competitive Advantage

AGED methods is the first and only accurate, non-invasive tool that can diagnose NASH and stage fibrosis. Other serum tests target markers found in benign liver disease, our proprietary methods alleviate challenges by targeting markers highly specific to NASH and fibrosis.

Traction

- Q1, 2019 NSF Grant, NSF ICorp
- Q3, 2020 Healthworx CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield (BCBS) Fellowship
- Q4, 2020 Filed full PCT (international) patent
Presented work at Annual Liver Conference
Published work in Hepatology
- Q3, 2021 Closed Pre-Seed Round
- Q3, 2022 Pilot Study, validated core technology in the lab in patient plasma samples

Path to Commercialization

- Q1, 2023 R&D test method verification, expand sample size
- Q1, 2024 Clinical Trial, Georgetown University
- Q3, 2024 CLIA Approval
Acquire Codes & Coverage
- Q1, 2025 Market Launch

 $3.5 million

Funding to Achieve Path to Market

Financial Projections

Target Market (TM) 25 million patients
$700 per unit

- Year 1 0.1% TM, 12 physicians, 25,000 patients,
- Year 3 1% TM, 120 physicians, 250,000 patients

Company Background: ARV Technologies (ARV Tech) is a Maryland, USA and Suzhou, China based biotechnology company passionate about innovating safer and more efficient RNA preventive vaccines for infectious diseases and therapeutic vaccines for cancer. Founded in 2021, the ARV team dedicates their time to focus on mRNA vaccine research and optimizing their lipid nanoparticle delivery technology in order to create safer and more efficient vaccines for human health. This has resulted in the development of a universal COVID-19 mRNA vaccine which is in the process for an IND, as well as vaccines for cancer and HSV 1/2 which are in the preclinical development phase. ARV currently has three patents filed with three more in preparation.

Executive Team:

Renhuan (Randy) Xu (Co-Founder, CEO): Over 15 years industrial experiences in several biopharmaceutical companies specialized in RNA/DNA based immunotherapy.

Jianzhu Chen (Co-Founder): Professor of Biology, MIT, Principal Investigator, Singapore-MIT Alliance for Research and Technology.

Products/Services: ARV RNA platforms include mRNA, Self-Amplifying RNA and DNA which can be efficiently manufactured for vaccine production. In addition, ARV has identified a Lipid Nanoparticle (LNP) which has proven to be a more effective RNA delivery method. Using our LNP platform, ARVs proprietary LNP can deliver RNA 100 times more efficiently than its competition. This allows us to create a safer vaccine with less side effects at a fraction of the cost.

Technologies/Special Know-How: The problem with current RNA vaccines is their reliance on neutralizing antibodies. While these are essential in neutralizing a virus’s pathogenicity, they are only effective for 3-6 months. ARVs broad-spectrum design, induces both neutralizing antibodies as well as T-cell immunity to create longer lasting immunity. Another hurdle to overcome with vaccines are their side effects and stability. Utilizing ARVs Lipid Nanoparticle formulation, we are able to formulate vaccines using a more effective LNP which translates lower toxicity, higher efficiency, and enhanced stability.

Market: Except for the huge market for cancer treatments, the market for HSV-1 and HSV-2 is currently wide open with no approved vaccine available. By the end of 2022, the market for antiviral treatment of HSV is estimated to be US$ 2.32 Billion. We also plan on utilizing our RNA/LNP formulation technologies to develop animal vaccines against infectious diseases which is currently not being done. The market for animal vaccines worldwide is expected to reach USD 12.8 billion in 2022.

Competition: Competitors for human vaccines include Moderna, BioNtech, Curevac etc. What sets ARV apart is our highly efficient LNP platform which induces immunity at a significantly lower dose which allows us to formulate vaccines with lower toxicity at a faction of the cost. There is currently no direct competition for our animal RNA vaccine platform.

Challenge

Complex payment system which reflects on business and consumers with high cost per transaction. Most fintech players offer fragmented solutions, which usually end up with high fees setup and commitment by the businesses, and so far, underbanked countries are unable to adopt digital payments. Also, in many countries, including the USA, mobile payment adoption could be faster than in China.

Products/Services:

One platform simple, easy to use with fast onboarding, no contracts, and no commitments. Numi3 is payment and currency agnostic, enabling businesses to accept any payment method (Credit, Debit, and Crypto) in-store and online with mobile applications and APIs. The platform offers Built-in loyalty and incentive sharing for all stakeholders (Businesses, consumers, and investors). We can provide global coverage even for underbanked countries based on our mobile and API design.

Technologies/Special Know-How:

Dynamic invoice generation and transmission and reducing blockchain multichain deposit to one deposit transaction. Our infrastructure is built on the cloud (Aws and Azure), and we use MPC technology to secure wallets.

Market:

The mobile payment market is projected to grow from USD 1.97 trillion in 2021 to USD 11.83 trillion in 2028 at a CAGR of 29.1% in 2021 to 2028. Our aim is to cover North America, Emerging Markets LATAM, and EMEA in 2023 and expand global coverage in 2024.

Distribution Channels:

2022 Direct sales

2023 Web3 SEO sales and partners

Competition: The block (Square), Stripe, Bitpay, PundiX, Prime trust, Coingate. We have more competitive fees per transaction and support for more payment methods in a straightforward application vs. fragmented solutions, which requires the business to buy/lease hardware and signup for yearly contracts. Our solution provides incentive features through our Numi token, which can build Loyalty, and we have tools to increase customer conversion, which are absent in other competitors. Numi3 combines fintech with Social Data. We believe we can be the global white glove payment processor.

Tour Trader Pro (TTP) is a golf wagering platform that replicates a financial market trading experience. TTP is the quintessential companion to golf tournament coverage, keeping eyes on the screen far longer than any existing engagement vehicle. Core revenue is driven by commissions on trades, and has been demonstrated to offer profitability that is unmatched in the broader sports betting / fantasy sports marketplace.

Stage:

Seed 1

Investment Opportunity:

$1 Million SAFE; Valuation Cap / Discount Rate Negotiable.

Technical Product Description:

Structurally similar to a futures exchange where cash-settled contracts pay out according to prize money earned by each professional golfer during a specific competition.

Unique User Experience:

Payoffs on each trade are non-binary, unlike traditional betting or fantasy competitions, creating more interest in "long shots", and other elements of a golf competition like speculating on the cut. Users can also sell short, wagering on a player's negative performance. Trading is available both pre-tournament and "in game" - users can trade actively, or "buy and hold".

Revenue Model:

Transaction-based commission structure, demonstrated to deliver substantial revenue generation.

Use of Funds:

Digital Enhancement; Marketing / Business Development; Technical Support; Trading Operations; Professional Services; Development of Web3, "tokenized" version of platform.

Regulatory Notes:

Platform is congruent with US sports betting regulation. Web3 application to be launched in accordance with relevant BSA regulations.

Strategic Partnerships:

TTP Web3 is being developed by Solidity Labs. "Get Right with Will and Mike" Media Platform - an ESPN Production.

Intellectual Property Notes:

The design of TTP's trading instruments has been outlined for the U.S. Office of Patents and Trademarks and received patent pending status, meaning that our non-binary payoff structure cannot be replicated. We also own this design as it pertains to other prize-money-based professional sports.
