Featured Company

ACTUATED MEDICAL

Actuated Medical's NeuralGlider® is a validated precision brain access and deep-brain therapy delivery platform addressing a critical challenge in neurotechnology: accurately reaching increasingly more precise targets within the brain while minimizing tissue damage. As brain-computer interfaces, neuromodulation systems, flexible neural implants, gene therapies, and targeted biologics advance, precision brain access is becoming essential to therapeutic success. NeuralGlider uses gentle, electronically controlled micro-motion to improve insertion precision and reduce tissue disruption. The platform has been validated through more than 10 years of development, approximately $18M in NIH and DARPA funding, over $500,000 in research (preclinical) sales, adoption by more than 41 research laboratories worldwide, and cited in more than 44 scientific publications. These achievements provide a strong scientific foundation for clinical translation. Actuated is advancing NeuralGlider into clinical applications spanning deep brain stimulation (DBS), SEEG, brain-computer interfaces, next-generation neural implants, and targeted biologic delivery. Because the platform is compatible with multiple device and therapy types, it creates opportunities across several rapidly growing neurotechnology markets rather than a single indication. Supported by a 20,000-square-foot ISO 13485-certified, FDA-registered manufacturing facility in central Pennsylvania with in-house regulatory expertise, Actuated is uniquely positioned to translate NeuralGlider from validated research technology to clinical and commercial adoption.
